

UK PRESS RELEASE

World Premiere Of The Lexus LS 460 All-Wheel Drive At The 2008 Moscow International Motor Show

20 August 2008

On 26 August, the new LS 460 All-Wheel Drive will make its world premiere at this year's Moscow International Motor Show.

The LS 460's outstanding performance, sure-footed dynamic abilities and advanced active safety systems have been further strengthened by the addition of permanent all-wheel drive.

The all-wheel drive system is a three differential configuration featuring a highly compact TORSEN® Limited Slip Differential (LSD) – shared with the LS 600h – which distributes drive torque between the front and rear axles with a 40:60 rear axle bias in torque distribution.

The LS 460 AWD will go on sale in the UK from early 2009.
