

Lexus Gives Visitors to Silverstone Classic the Chance to Get Behind the Wheel

17 July 2018

Lexus is giving historic motorsport fans the opportunity to experience its range of thoroughly modern, self-charging hybrid models at the Silverstone Classic this weekend (20-22 July), as part of the event's all-new Drive Live feature.

Drive Live will provide visitors with the opportunity to take a 30-minute test-drive around the Buckinghamshire and Northamptonshire countryside, free of charge.

As the exclusive manufacturer representation for Drive Live, Lexus will be offering several models in its range. All three self-charging hybrid SUVs – NX, RX and new seven-seat RX L – will be available to trial, as will the seductive RC 300h coupe.

There is also the chance to experience the exhilarating performance of the flagship Lexus LC coupe, accompanied by a professional driver. Both the LC 500h self-charging hybrid, and LC 500 V8 will be present.

Drive Live is located within the Silverstone circuit, in the heart of the Shopping Village. Simply visit the Lexus showroom to book a test-drive - sessions will be available between 11:00 and 18:00. All drivers need to be aged 25 or older and have a full driving licence. Passengers are welcome.

In addition, Lexus will continue to celebrate ten years of its 'F' performance brand at Silverstone. The RC F 10th Anniversary special edition will be on static display, along with the race-prepared RC F Cup car.

ENDS