Lexus Looks to an Electrified Future at the Tokyo Motor Show

10 October 2019

Lexus will reveal a battery-electric vehicle (BEV) concept at the 2019 Tokyo Motor Show (23 October to 4 November).

It has applied continued advances in technologies such as electrification and autonomous driving to create a concept that offers a glimpse into its vision for a future vehicle that caters for customers who are equally passionate about driving and luxury experiences.

The 2019 Tokyo Motor Show will take place at the Tokyo Big Sight International Exhibition Centre, with press days on 23 and 24 October. Further details are available at <http://www.tokyo-motorshow.com/en>.
