

Post-Lockdown Golf Tips from Lexus Ambassador and Pro Golfer, Andrew Murray

22 July 2020

As golf is one of the few sports that has resumed post-lockdown, Lexus asked its ambassador, PGA professional golfer, coach and BBC pundit, Andrew Murray, for some top tips to help golfers get back into the swing of things and has released a series of films that capture the techniques. The 1989 European Open Champion loaded his golf clubs into his luxurious seven-seat Lexus RX L, and headed to Lymm Golf Club in Cheshire.

Golf tips from Andrew Murray:

The Bradshaw Drill

“Players tend to focus more on the line of the putt rather than pace, but speed is more important in my eyes. The Bradshaw Drill, named after a famous Irish golfer, will help you master this key skill. Remember to keep the bottom half of your body still and grip secure, but not tight. You’ll be surprised at how difficult it is.”

Click here to view film: the Bradshaw drill

Escaping the bunker

“A lot of players are intimidated by a greenside bunker shot, but there’s no need to be. First of all, it’s really important you’ve got a good club. The key to this is to try and splash the parcel of sand onto the putting surface from just behind the ball. Practice the tips in this video and you’ll be able to make some great escapes.”

Film link: Escaping the bunker

Using a hybrid club

“It’s really important to assess the lie of the ball and choose the correct club and shot for your skill set. When the lie is tricky, a chip-and-run using a hybrid club is an option that can often be overlooked. For me, it’s a bit of a gamechanger and this relatively simple shot can get you out of all sorts of trouble.”

Film link: Using a hybrid club

The putter gate

“It’s probably the simplest putting drill of all, but I’ve seen all the best players using it, including Tiger Woods. It really helps you get a great feel for releasing the putter down the target line and will also help you stop pulling putts wide, which can make the difference between winning and losing.”

Film link: The putter gate

Mastering the pitch shot

“A pitch shot over the bunker can be really intimidating to some people. The key here is to try and get the feeling that you are throwing the ball underarm towards your target. Master this simple technique and you’ll be taking pitch shots in your stride.”

Film link: Mastering the pitch shot

Ends